

ZyQuest News

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

February 6, 2007

Contact: Stephanie Forbes at stephanie.forbes@zyquest.com

Margery Blondin Assumes New Role at ZyQuest

Green Bay, WI – Information Technology Company ZyQuest, Inc., has promoted Margery Blondin to Director of Project Management Office Services and Director of Strategic Business Solutions.

In her new role, Margery will be working with ZyQuest's clients and in-house development teams to deliver quality business solutions through Information Technology. With extensive experience in several formal methodologies and project management tools, Margery has an excellent track record of building project teams that deliver quality solutions on time and within budget.

Margery has worked in the IT industry for more than 20 years. Her diverse and progressive experience includes Director of Development and Project Office, Director of Applications Development, Project Manager, Team Leader, Systems Analyst, and Senior Programmer Analyst. She is a strong leader with a successful track record directing structured and object-oriented development, advancing organizational objectives through steering committee participation and facilitation, managing infrastructure initiatives, solving problems, and supporting systems in the transportation, logistics, retail, manufacturing, and distribution industries. Margery's technical background encompasses several platforms, including IBM mainframe, Client/Server, and Web environments with development languages ranging from COBOL to Java. Her project experience is also broad, having participated in and managed projects of all kinds, including large enterprise implementations where she directed several project teams.

ZyQuest, Inc. is a full-service Information Technology (IT) consulting company that has been serving clients in Northeast Wisconsin for 11 years. In addition to its new Strategic Consulting services, ZyQuest provides IT staffing services, project outsourcing, technical education, and SAP services.
